We invite student posters for presentation at the Lucy Family Institute for Data and Society Fall Symposium. The Workshop is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct 27, from 12-6 PM with an evening reception to follow.

The student poster session will open the symposium during the lunch hour from 12-1. We are particularly interested in posters that feature research that advances data innovations to transform society and individual lives. Posters that feature data science, AI, data engineering, computing, applications, and methods that amplify societal expertise in areas of human development, peace accord, ethics, global development, health disparities, and poverty are particularly welcome. Combining these core capabilities is at the heart of the Lucy Family Institute’s goal to accelerate the work of best-in-class research teams aligned toward specific societal challenges that translate out of research and into practice. The top three posters will receive recognition at the event’s evening reception and a monetary award.

Important Dates:

- Oct 20  Student Registration & Poster Entry Deadline
- Oct 21  All Entrants’ Posters submitted to Lucy Family Institute for printing by 3 PM
- Oct 22  Student Poster Competition Entries Announced & Abstracts posted
- Oct 27  Lucy Family Institute Fall Symposium

Students interested in presenting a poster at the Symposium can enter the poster competition using the student registration form at lucyinstitute.nd.edu. There’s a section where you can indicate your interest in presenting a poster. We welcome entries from individual students or groups of co-authors. Single authors or the corresponding author for groups are prompted to enter a poster title and a short (250 words) abstract of your poster concept on the registration form. We seek poster abstract submissions from students in all disciplines. We will provide a customizable poster template and facilitate poster printing at no cost to student entrants to ensure ease of participation.

Accommodations: We want the event to be engaging for all. We’ve anticipated certain accommodations to enable participation (diet, allergy, interpreter, lactation room) but we know special circumstances may arise. Please contact Lucy Institute if you have any questions about student registration, the poster competition, or to ensure we can accommodate your needs the day of the event.
